everal "I's" in the Way of Setting the Statue of the Great Dutchman Set Up to this City, but the Members of the Society Believe These Can He Eastly Disposed of-Mr. French's Design and Some Critictsms of It Other Designs Coming.

If the permission of the city can be obtained. and if a suitable design can be found, and if $40,000 or $50,000 can be raised for the purpose, the Holland Society will erect a statue of William the Silent, Prince of Orange, in New York. The "ifs" are considered very small obstacles by the members of the society.

Three or four well-known sculptors and architects have been working on designs for such a statue, and the officers of the society have Httle doubt about raising the money when the time comes. The society now has a membership of

By Mr. French. nearly 900, and this is restricted to men who can trace their pedigree in an unbroken male line back for at least 225 years to a progenitor who was a Dutch citizen living in America wher therefore, the membership in the Holland So clety is comparatively small, but this is made up

Nearly a year ago it was suggested that the society should erect a statue of a typical Dutch-man, as statues have been erected to the typical Pilgrim, but on further discussion it was determined to select, not a type, but a man, who should stand for a type, and William the Silent, Prince of Orange, was selected.

"William the Silent," said Mr. T. M. Banta, Secretary of the society, "was selected because In the opinion of the members of the Holfand Society he stood for statesmanship and religious freedom, and his name is dear to the Dutchmen of to-day. We thought that it would be more appropriate to select such a man and erect a statue to him rather than to leave it to the sculptor to model a typical Dutchman."

Judge George M. Van Hoesen, George G. De Witt, and Dr. D. B. St. John Roosa were appointed as a committee to obtain designs for such a statute and estimates as to its cost. Mr. J. Q. A. Ward, Daniel C. French, and several sther sculptors were invited to submit designs. Mr. French's model was exhibited to the Holfand Society at its annual meeting on Monday night. A sketch of it nopears herewith. Mr. Edward C. Fotter designed the horse, and Mr. French is responsible for the figures of the Prince and the two heralds. If this design should be accepted it sestinated that it will take about three years to complete the statue.

The design calls for a granite pedestal twenty-sight feet high, and the group upon it is to be in bronze. The head of William the Silent would be seventeen feet above the top of the pedestal. in the opinion of the members of the Holland bronze. The head of William the Silent would be seventeen feet above the top of the pedestal. There was a free discussion of the model on Monday evening, and some opposition to it was developed. One Methodist clergyman took exception to the horse.

"When I was in Holland last summer," he said, "I saw the finest horses in the world. Let us have such a horse for the Prince of Orange. We want him mounted on a Dutch horse. We don't want a Massachusetts horse for this statue. You will notice that this horse has his neck arched and his nose brought in as if by a tight rein, and yet the reins are represented as tight rein, and yet the reins are repres hanging loosely. That is not military not horsemanlike."

not horsemanlike."

Another clergyman said: "I do not believe that William the Silent should be represented as a warrior. He was more than that: he was a sisteman and an uphoder of religious freedom. I think that we should be doing an injustice to his memory if we represented him solely in the character of a warrior."

The peccetal was generally admired the character of a warrior."

The pedestal was generally admired. The only inscription upon it was: "William, Prince of Orange, forn February, 1533, died 1584.

There was also a lively discussion as to the best site for this statue. The society seemed to be about equally divided between Riverside Drive and Central Park. The other designs will probably be submitted within a month, and the society will hold an adjourned meeting to consider them.

JAMES SHAW TAYLOR'S WILL.

American and English Cinimants to a Residue of $200,000.

James Shaw Taylor, one of the founders of the firm of Lord & Taylor, left a will when he died in England in 1862, under which all his estate has been distributed except the residuary estate of $200,000 in American securities. The will provided that his only child, a daughter, should have the income of this residue for life with remainder to her children. She married after his death and died childless in 1892. A suit for the construction of the will was before Judge Stover in the Supreme Court in this city yesterday. Joseph Beaumont Atkinson, an Englishman, Mr. Taylor's son-in-law, claims the $200,000 under the will of his wife, who made him her sole legatee.

The other claimants are the children of Lavina Waller, a deceased sister of Mr. Taylor; the children of Mary Lord, another deceased dister; the children of Sarah Smith, a deceased daughter of Mary Lord, and the children of Hannah Marshall, another deceased daughter of Mary Lord. They contend that as to the residue of the estate Mr. Taylor died intestate, and that it should be divided among his heirs. One of the called the divided among his heirs. His Parents in Hungary Die and Leave an Estate to Himself and His Brothers. Ignatz Winkler, a young Hungarian watchcase maker connected with the house of Klein & Reeves, at 90 Nassau street, has learned from Lawyers Ameisen & Kromery of 525 Smith-field street, Philadelphia, that a comfortable little windfall is coming to him from Hungary. Winkler was born in Ungvar, Hungary, twenty-five years ago. His parents, Magdeleine and L. Winkler, were well to do. He learned the L. Winkler, were well to do. He learned the watch-case trade and came to this country seven years ago. A short time ago his father and mother both died, leaving an estate consisting of 35,000 guilders in money, or about $15,000; a valuable block of buildings at Ungvar, and a large farm at Weingarten, a suburb of Ungvar, Ignatz has a brother, Joseph, in Ungvar, He also has two other brothers. Adolph and Max, whom he has not heard from in several years, but whom he supposes to be in this country.

He intends to advertise for his brothers Adolph and Max, and when he has settled the estate he anticipates setting himself up in business in this city.

TRUST SUED FOR A HALF MILLION. Watch Manufacturers Who Boycetted Dueber Cases Defendants,

The fight between the Dueber Watch Case Company and the members of the American Watch Case Manfacturers' Association and the National Association of Jobbers in American Watches, which two associations formed in 1887 the trust in cases and movements, came before Justice McLennan of the Supreme Court in this city yesterday for final adjudication or a claim of the plaintiffs for $500,000 damages because of the operations of the trust.

The plaintiffs had a factory at Canton about the time the trust was formed, which factory, it is declared, turned out 25,000 watch cases a month, and brought in a yearly profit of $175,-They say that because they refused to go into the trust, which was formed on Nov. 16, 1887, the trust sent out circulars to the trade announcing that the trust would not sell to persons who dealt with the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs say that they lost half a million dollars by reason of this conspiracy.

There was a strong array of counsel: Col. E. C. James, Robert Sewell, and Wilber & Oldham appeared for the plaintiffs, and the defendants were represented by Elihu Root, Louis Cass Ledyard, and Charles E. Rushmore. The trust went out of existence as the result of a variety of causes, not the least of which was the stubborn stand taken by the plaintiffs. The defendants, who, it is charged, are responsible for acts of the trust are: The American Waltham Watch Company, the Bay State Watch Case Company, the Hooklyn Watch Case Company, the Cheshire Watch Company, the Courvoisier Wilcox Manufacturing Company, the Courvoisier Wilcox Manufacturing Company, the Elgin National Watch Company, the Hinois Watch Company, the Hest Company, the Keystone Watch Case Company, the Seth Thomas Clock Company, Joseph Fahys & Co., the former firm of Bates & Bacon, H. Muhr's Sons, and Duhme & Co.

More than half a day was consumed in getting a jury of men who knew nothing about the case or the parties, and who were not prejudiced against trusts. persons who dealt with the plaintiffs. Plain-or the parties, and who were not prejudiced against trusts.

James H. Noyes, Secretary of the National Association of Jobbers in American Watches, and a Commissioner of the American Watch Case Manufacturers' Association, was called for the plaintiff, and examined at length. He identified many circulars that had been sent out stating the purposes of the organization, and warning customers against dealing with the plaintiffs. One of these circulars named five firms that had been fined from $100 to $1,000 for dealing with the plaintiffs. Three of the fined firms were in Chicago. Mr. Noyes said that all the fines, except one for $800 against a Chicago firm, had been paid. The case went over until to-day.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL 32 CLOSED. Measles in the Janitor's Family Throws

1,700 Children Out of School. The closing of Grammar School 32, in West Thirty-fifth street, by order of the Board of Health yesterday morning, makes idle 1,700 pupils. The closing of the school was brought about by a case of measles which developed in the family of Janitor Biel about ten days ago. The janitor lived with his family in the basement of the school building. The Board of Health received notice that one of his children was sick with the measles.

The Board decided that the patient must either be removed to North Brother Island or that the school should be closed. When the janitor refused to allow the child to be moved, President Wilson of the Health Board wrote to the clerk of the Board of Education. Nothing was done, however, and a second letter was sent to the Mayor, who, after looking into the case approved the action suggested by the Health Board. In his letter to the Mayor, President Wilson also suggested that the practice in vogue of allowing janitors with families to live in pub-lic school buildings should be abolished. To this the Mayor also agreed, and the Board of Education will be expected to take some definite action in the matter.

President Wilson said yesterday that it was much to be regretted that 1,700 children should be shut out of school, but that the only course left was to close and thoroughly disinfect the building. The safety of hundreds of children made this step necessary. He said that the Health Department had long advised the bunishing of all janitors' families from school buildings, and that the Board would not recede from its position in the matter.

In the mean time the Commissioners of Education are waiting for a report from their Committee on Buildings.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Art Glass Works and Ex-Commissioner Beardsley's Cafe Embarrassed.

The Ravenswood Art Glass Works of 43 Barclay street and Ravenswood, L. OTTO NIENDORFF WINS

A Judgment for $5,000 Damages for an Assault by Elevated Railroad Men.

Otto Niendorff recovered a judgment yesterday for $5,000 against the Manhattan Railway Company. He sued for $10,000 for damages sustained about a year ago at the hands of cer-tain guards employed by the company. The tain guards employed by the company. The case was tried in Part II. of the Court of Common Pleas before Chief Judge Baly.

Niendorff testified that he was on his way to 120th street on the Third avenue elevated road and got off by mistake at Ninety-ninth street. He said that when he attempted to get on the train again the ticket chopper demanded his ticket. He said that he explained to the ticket chopper the circumstances, but that the man attacked him and kicked him in the stomach. Two guards also assaulted him. As a result of this assault he was laid up for several months, and a serious surgical operation was made necessary, which will, it was said, make him a cripple for life.

John Powell, a laborer in the employ of John Fink, a builder, of Brooklyn, was crushed to death yesterday in the office of Thomas Cook & Son, 261 Broadway. Powell and others were engaged in raising a safe three faches above the floor. The props gave away, throwing the safe upon Powell. He was a widower and leaves three married daughters.

Burglars at Haverstraw.

Safe crackers broke into the Swift Dresse Beef Company's building in Haverstraw early yesterday morning, tried to crack the safe, and, failing, stole $15 from a deek. Then they broke into the West Shore Raffroad station and stole tickets and a small amount of money. There have been a number of similar burglaries near Haverstraw lately. Haverstraw lately.

MISSING BICYCLIST LENZ.

NEWS FROM ARMENIA THAT IN-CREASES THE MYSTERY.

There Is Still Hope That He Is Alive, but Held a Captive by the Kurds-The Sul tan of Turkey Impedes the Search A few weeks ago THE SUN told the story of the disappearance of Bicyclist Frank G. Lenz in the Kurdish Mountains of Armenia, of the fruitless efforts made to learn his fate, and of the mission of another cyclist, William L. Sachtleben, who on March 2 sailed on La Champagne to take up the trail of Lenz where authentic record of it ceased nearly a year ago. Lenz had been on a world-girdling tour for Outing, and the magazine sent out Sachtleben as a rescuer after several other persons in that territory acting for it had vainly sought for the lost

The last definite report of Lenz on his way from Trebizond to Erzeroum had recorded hi presence in Diadin on May 7, 1894. From there his route led toward the Delibaba Pass, in the mountainous country of the nomadic Kurds, a region dangerous to unescorted travellers. When nothing was heard of him after that the conclusion was drawn, based upon the character of the country, that Lenz had been killed by the wandering Kurds or had been captured by them and held for a ransom. Yesterday J. H. Worman, editor of Outing, received a cable despatch with news that Lenz had been traced to the village of Chilgani in the Alasgird plains, outside the Delibaba Pass. A native of Chilgani says that Lenz arrived there on May 9, just before sundown, and became th guest of Avak Parsegh. He was in good health and spirits, and held a sort of reception that evening, when many of the natives came to see his machine, in which they seemed to take much interest. He spoke a few words of Turkish, and they seemed to like that. The next morning he left Chilgani and a month later a report was circulated among the villages that he had been killed in the vicinity of Koord Ali. There are four villages in the neighborhood, Chilgani. Koord Ali. Zedikan, the last of the Armenian villages of the plain, and Delibaba, at the foot of the pass of the same name. The pass is seventy or eighty niles from Erzeroum. Koord Ali is about five miles from Zedikan, so that this last report is that Lenz was killed before he reached the mountain pass.

Mr. Worman does not believe that Lenz is dead, the thinks that he is held a captive. If he was killed or captured in the pass it is argued that it must have been on May 10 or May 11, for otherwise he would have been spoken in the first village on this aide of the Delibaba Pass on May 12. Yet it was nearly a month after this that the report of his death was circulated in the villages only a few miles from the other side of the pass.

On March 24 the Turkish Government refused guest of Avak Parsegh. He was in good health the report of his death was circulated in the villages only a few miles from the other side of the pass.

On March 24 the Turkish Government refused to grant to Sachtleben permission to enter the Armenian territory. It is said that the Government will not allow any foreigner to enter the country until the international commission of inquiry which is investigating the recent Kurdish outrages on Armenians finishes its sittings at Moosh and makes its report.

Should Lenz be found in captivity international complications with America might chaught at the present juncture. Turkey wishes to avoid any unpleasant entanglements or any disagreeable disclosures about conditions in Armenia that the Commission may overlook. News is expected almost hourly, therefore, that Sachtleben has received the necessary permission to enter the forbidden territory, for negotiations have not ceased, and Outing is unwilling to recede from the position that as Lenz is an American citizen it is entitled to send its representatives to the point at which trace of him was lost. This position is maintained particularly since the Turkish Government has failed to find him, although it promised the American Minister at Constantinople that a search would be made. Owing to the weakness of the United States diplomatic officers it became necessary long ago to bespeak the good offices of England's representatives in Turkey, who will stand up for any white man. Secretary Gresham had to wire Mr. Worman last fail that the American Minister had requested the aid of England's representatives the fail that the American Minister had requested the aid of England's consulational authorities there in behalf of Lenz.

Another Skaats Will Contest.

In moving for the appointment of a temporary administrator of the estate of Lawyer Bartholomew Skaats, a brother of Schuyler Skaats, whose will was once before the courts in a contest by his nieces, Lawyer Charles H. Beckett told Surrogate Fitzgerald yesterday that his client, William W. Skaats, another brother of Bartholomew, intended to contest Bartholo-mew's will. Bartholomew Skaats, who had lived for years mew's will.

Bartholomew Skaats, who had lived for years at the Cumberland, received $50,000 under the will of Schuyler Skaats, who left about a milion. Their sister, Elsie Skaats, who asks to be made temporary administrator, says that Bartholomew's personal estate is but $30,000. Mr. Beckett also asked that an inquiry be had as to the value of the personal estate. Bartholomew Skaats left all his property, except some small bequests, to his sisters. Mr. Beckett opposed the appointment of Elsie as administrator. The Surrogate reserved decision.

Sergeant O'Toole Indicted Again.

Police Sergeant William O'Toole was indicted again by the Grand Jury yesterday. The new indictment will supersede the first, and his trial and that of Detective Sergeant William E. Frink, which are on the calendar of the Court of Oyer and Terminer for to-day may be postponed. The indictment was granted on the testimony of J. E. Newton Whitehead and Mrs. Helen Ruggles. It is alleged that Whitehead paid Sergeant O'Toole $50 on April 13, 1894, to delay the execution of a warrant.
